The use of a mobile computing device for learning is required and a privilege at OOS. The responsible use of technology at OOS is guided by both OOS's vision and mission statements. This means that we are inquisitive, compassionate, and creative users of technology who are committed to maintaining a caring environment. It also means that our use of technology is balanced and that we are actively engaged in local and international communication and collaboration. Ultimately, we use technology to thoughtfully improve our learning.
