- a) The answer script and all evidence are confiscated.
- b) Pupil is given a fresh answer script and advised to start answering questions which he/she has not yet answered and come back to the questions he/she has already finished later if time permits.
- c) The Invigilator will write the following and attach it to the answer script:
  - i. Name of the invigilator
  - ii. Subject
  - iii. Date
  - iv. Time the paper was confiscated
  - v. Brief explanation in a few lines to what exactly the pupil was doing(to be done after the invigilation duty is completed )
  - vi. Signature of the teacher.
- d) The original answer script along with above details will be stapled together with the evidences. On the fresh answer script, the following will be written :
  - i. Pupil found using unfair means:
  - ii. Fresh answer script given at .....a.m.

The pupil will be allowed to complete the exam and no extra time will be given. His or her paper will be collected separately and attached with the confiscated answer script. The same will be handed over personally to the Supervisor. The Supervisor will discuss the matter with the Headmistress/Head Primary, and the Supervisor and Section Head will put in appropriate comments under the Invigilator's remarks.

If it is finally validated that unfair means has been used the confiscated answer script will be marked as 'Zero' and the marks obtained will only be those which the pupil has obtained on the second answer script .All matters such as these must be brought to the notice of the Principal, who will take the final decision. The pupil must be sent for by either the Section Head or Headmistress and given a chance to explain.

Using the evidence the discipline committee may decide from a range of the options available to them:

- i. Take no further actions
- ii. Let the student go with a written warning and an undertaking from the student.
- iii. Give zero for the work copied.
- iv. Give zero for the whole paper

- c) The Supervisor will speak to the concerned student and after affirming the case record the incident electronically in Behaviour management system in Phoenix.
- d) Any subsequent repetition of similar incidents will involve the HOS along with the parent.
